The Dorothy Taubman Seminar

Six "Hands On" Intensive Morning Sessions for performers, teachers and students of piano

Dorothy Taubman

Dorothy Taubman has spent more than fifty years of study and research in the field of piano pedagogy. Dorothy Taubman's ideas on interpretation are as penetrating as her approach to technique. Her master classes stress one of her major pedagogical goals – teaching how to read the composer's blueprint (the score) and how to blend each composer's intent and style with the performer's capabilities and individuality. Mrs. Taubman believes every intelligent pianist can be trained to be interpretively self-reliant.

A celebrated innovator with an international reputation for her revolutionary concepts and principles on the art of playing the piano, Dorothy Taubman has been praised in numerous prestigious publications for her work. In one of several articles in The New York Times, she was described as a "doyenne of the master class who understands a lot about how people play the piano." She has given lectures and master classes throughout the United States and abroad including Oberlin College, New England Conservatory, Tanglewood, Lincoln Center, The Gina Bachauer Piano Festival and The Rubin Academy and Jerusalem Music Center in Israel. She was formerly a professor at the Aaron Copland School of Music of Queens College and a visiting professor of piano at Temple University in Philadelphia. She teaches at her Brooklyn, New York studio.

The Taubman Approach

A natural and powerful technique, the Taubman Approach liberates pianists to play effortlessly, unburdened by physical limitations. Based on principles of physiology and coordinated motion, the Taubman Approach enables pianists not only to unravel technical complexities that might block artistic expression, but also to avoid fatigue, pain and injury. Performing artists, students and teachers can discover the power of Dorothy Taubman's technique through a full range of instructional venues.

Celebrating five years at Temple University. Happy Birthday Taubman Seminar!

The Taubman Seminar was founded in New York and remained there for several years as a showcase for guest artists, concerts, and workshops. Upon invitation from Temple University, the Seminar moved to Philadelphia in 2008.

The Seminar has grown during the last five years to present six levels of instruction taught by an outstanding specialist faculty. In the interim we have rejoiced as our students have improved as performers and teachers, and as injured pianists recovered their pianistic skills. Seminar format has changed this year, offering an entire week of intensive work with Taubman specialists and guest artists. Outreach has been expanded to a national audience and new and returning students are welcome to join us for our birthday celebration.

"The body is capable of fulfilling all pianistic demands without a violation of its nature if the most efficient ways are used; pain, insecurity and lack of technical control are symptoms of in-coordination rather than a lack of practice, intelligence or talent."
